TRADITIONAL SPACES

Spaces to hire in the Richard Hoggart Building include the multi-functional Great Hall. Originally a parade ground, the Great Hall was created in 1891 when the parade ground was roofed in to a design by J.W. Penfold. The Great Hall is an incredibly versatile space which has hosted a multitude of events, including live television broadcasts, debates, recitals, concerts, graduation ceremonies, meetings, conferences and exhibitions.

In addition to the Great Hall, the Richard Hoggart Building boasts six lecture theatres and the Cinema that can seat 120 persons - these spaces are complemented by 28 classrooms of various sizes that can be hired as breakout spaces for larger conferences or for smaller events. All lecture theatres and classrooms have a built in computer, projector and screen as well as a whiteboard. The Refectory and the Balcony offer great spaces for dining and can also serve as exhibition areas.

Perfect for: Conferences, meetings, workshops, exhibitions, recitals, graduation and award ceremonies, examinations and filming.
Contemporary Spaces

The glass fronted New Academic Building (NAB) has a wonderful terrace overlooking the Green and the Grade II listed Richard Hoggart Building. On the lower ground floor the NAB boasts a lecture theatre which seats 250 persons and a screening room which can seat 120 persons - both spaces lead into the Weston Atrium where catering can be served or exhibitions can be hosted. With breakout spaces on the 3rd floor in the form of two 60 seater inter-leading classrooms and a further 3 classrooms which can seat between 16, 20 and 30 persons respectively. The NAB Café situated on the ground floor is a superbly bright and exciting environment in which to enjoy refreshment and lunch breaks.

Situated in the Whitehead Building, the Ian Gulland Lecture Theatre seats 290 persons in raked theatre style. The podium has a built in microphone and is equipped with a computer, projector and screen. Just outside of the lecture theatre is a foyer that has fantastic views over the Green. The iconic Ben Pimlott Building which was unveiled in 2005 and whose sculptural ‘scribble’ weighs 27 tonnes and measures 534 metres long if stretched out, boasts a lecture theatre which seats 120 persons.

Perfect for: Screenings, lectures, day meetings, conferences, exhibitions and gallery space
INDULGENT SPACES

Surrey House is a Victorian building that includes the Orangery which seats 64 persons and two inter-leading meeting rooms that overlook the garden and that can seat 36, 20 or 16 persons respectively. In addition to this there are three small board rooms, two of which seat eight and one which seats ten. Surrey House is an approximate five minute walk from the main campus.

The Green is situated behind the Richard Hoggart Building in the heart of the Goldsmiths campus, and provides an oasis of green and tranquility.

Perfect for: Day meetings, conferences, sports Days and team building events
HISTORIC SPACES

Deptford Town Hall is a Grade II listed building, easily recognisable by its galleon weathervane poised on top of the clock tower, was built in 1905 and acquired by Goldsmiths in 2000; its architectural features commemorate the area’s maritime history. The building houses the Council Chamber which is a magnificent space for music recitals, readings and lectures; the space can seat 200 persons. The building further houses three meeting rooms which can seat 20, 30 and 20 persons respectively.

Perfect for: Conferences, day meetings, music recitals and concerts
During the summer months Conference Services provides affordable accommodation and event facilities for residential conferences, summer schools, sporting groups, social groups and individuals. En-suite accommodation on campus and en-suite and shared bathroom accommodation is available at various sites throughout New Cross and Brockley.
