Department of Educational Studies, Goldsmiths, University of London

PhD Completions since 2001

5. Student teachers’ beliefs about science, design & technology: influences on planning for activities in the primary classroom, Daniel Davies, (2002).

8. "It’s not just what I say, it’s also how I say it" : bilingual performance, the interpersonal dimension, Hayat Al-Khatib, (2003).

15. Teachers’ perspectives on training to teach class music to children in the age range 7 to 11 years in England Heather Brewer, (2005).

20. The Role of Culture in Second Language Learning with Special Reference to the Japanese Students at the International School of Dusseldorf, Germany, Patricia Mertin, (2006).

24. Why stop having fun?: drinking and smoking as ways of ’doing’ girl, Fiona Cullen, (2007).

31. "Boys are from Planet Football?" Girls are from Planet Pink?: Gender dualism and beyond in the construction of young children's gender identities in the early years of schooling, Barbara Martin, (2009).

44. When what hurts us, saves us: The formation of subjectivity in adults that identify themselves as Dyslexic, Naomi Folb(2011)

45. An investigation into the problems involved in implementation of a suggested Strategic Planning model for schools in Saudi Arabia, Ahmad Makhdoom (2012)

46. Schools at Home: Parental Support for Learning Mandarin as a Second or Foreign Language, Yu-Chiao Chung (2012)

47. Place and belonging: Ways of knowing and learning in the Australian bush. (2012)

48. How can the applied philosophy of Sartrean free-will and Foucauldian negotiated autonomy assist in creating proactive learning experiences in art education. Miranda Matthews (2012)

49. A critical analysis of Korean art educators’ perceptions of the purpose and meaning of teaching art in the specific socio-cultural context. Okhee Jeong (2012)

51. Making a better life: The stories of people from poor rural backgrounds in Sindh, Pakistan Ambreen Shahriar (2013)