Programme overview

This programme is for those who wish to qualify and pursue a career as a professional counsellor.

The programme carries 240 credits reflecting 450 face to face teaching hours.

The programme offers a full-time mode of study extending over two years and a part-time mode of study extending over three years.

It's designed to enable the student to develop as a reflective counselling practitioner with a critical understanding and awareness of the influence of socio-cultural context and power relations.

The curriculum focuses on psychodynamic, psychoanalytic and relational psychoanalytic perspectives.

Through engagement in a range of learning contexts, including lectures, group seminars, therapeutic skills practice workshops, creative workshops, experiential group work, counselling placements, personal therapy, tutorials, independent study and dissertation supervision, students are supported in developing links between personal, clinical and theoretical knowledge.

This programme provides the training in counselling and psychotherapy necessary to become eligible for British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP) individual practitioner accreditation once students have gone onto accrue the necessary additional post qualification supervised clinical hours.

Programme entry requirements

Criteria for Admission to the Programme

To enter the programme, applicants will:

1. Hold a foundation / certificate level award in counselling (commensurate with Goldsmiths’ Certificate in Humanistic and Psychodynamic Counselling).
2. Hold an honours degree or an equivalent level professional qualification (e.g. social work, nursing, psychiatric nursing, teaching). For applicants who do not hold such awards, Special Entry may be considered at the discretion of the Admissions Tutor.

3. Be required to demonstrate interpersonal and personal capacities to provide a ‘therapeutic’ relationship (assessed through application and interview). These capacities include sensitivity, reliability, robustness, willingness to learn from feedback, integrity, psychological self-awareness.

4. Demonstrate the ability to work independently at postgraduate level.

5. Be required to provide a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check or equivalent Certificate of Conduct for international students.

6. Be required to have a minimum score of 6.5 in IELTS (including 6.5 in the written element) or equivalent’ where they did not complete their previous University award in the medium of English.

Aims of the programme

The aims of the programme are informed by the College’s commitment to widening participation, by the ethos of the Department of Social, Therapeutic and Community Studies (STaCS) and by the increasing emphasis in the counselling field on research and evidence based practice.

This programme offers a full-time mode of study extending over two years and a part-time mode of study extending over three years for those who wish to qualify and pursue a career as a professional counsellor. It is designed to enable the student to develop as a reflective counselling practitioner with a critical understanding and awareness of the influence of socio-cultural context and power relations. The programme framework will enable students to develop and integrate theoretical knowledge, counselling skills and competencies, personal and inter-personal awareness, supervised clinical experience, and a therapeutic attitude which is sensitive to the dynamics of cultural context. The programme curriculum focuses on psychodynamic, psychoanalytic and relational psychoanalytic perspectives.

Programme Aims for MA Counselling:

- Promote knowledge and critical appraisal of key clinical concepts of the psychodynamic counselling approach
- Promote knowledge of psychodynamic concepts which explain human experience and development and relate this to personal experience
- Develop understanding of social and cultural forces and their forms of representation; and critically evaluate how these influence human development and counselling relationship
- Develop understanding of the ways in which psychological distress may manifest in counselling context
- Promote the student’s self-awareness and capacity for reflexivity through reflexive practice and counselling competencies workshops, experiential group and personal counselling.
- To produce reflective, competent, informed, ethical counselling practitioners who are able to work in a range of contexts
- To promote advanced knowledge of, and critical engagement with existing research in the counselling / psychotherapy field
- To promote knowledge of research methodologies and practices, and their application to the appraisal of clinical practices
- To promote advanced knowledge and understanding of reflexive counselling practice, with particular emphasis on subjectivity, ethics and social responsibility
- To promote understanding of the debates in the philosophy of science and social sciences, about claims to forms of ‘knowledge’ and ‘evidence’ in relation to counselling/psychotherapy
- To provide a programme of study that supports graduates eligibility to apply through the individual route for professional accreditation with the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP), on completion of the relevant number of supervised clinical hours. Accreditation is at the discretion of BACP, not Goldsmiths.
• Promote the student’s self-awareness through reflexive practice workshops, case management, experiential group and personal counselling.
• Develop students’ clinical practice and experience through the undertaking of 100 hours on clinical placement.

What you will be expected to achieve

Students who exit the programme with a Postgraduate Certificate in Counselling will be able to:

It is important to be aware that this academic award on its own, will not qualify students with enough face to face tutor contact or clinical placement hours to meet the requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date.

In addition to the learning outcomes above, students who exit the programme with a Postgraduate Diploma in Counselling will be able to:

C1  demonstrate that a minimum of 100 hours of supervised clinical practice have been undertaken  Clinical Placement
C2  demonstrate that a minimum of 50 hours of work based experience (non-clinical) have been undertaken  Clinical Placement

Transferable Skills  Taught by the following modules
D1  demonstrate research and information retrieval skills  Applied Psychoanalysis, Advanced Theory, Research Methods

Full time students who exit year 2 with this award will have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date.

Part time students who exit at the end of year 2 with this award will not have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date. However, part time students who exit at the end of year 3 with this award will have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date.

In addition to the learning outcomes above, students who successfully complete the full MA programme will demonstrate the following knowledge and skills:

Knowledge and Understanding  Taught by the following modules
A1  positivist and anti-positivist research strategies  Dissertation
A2  sophisticated critical understanding of relevant philosophy of science arguments  Dissertation

Transferable Skills  Taught by the following modules
D1  construct a research-based dissertation, comprising theoretical and/or empirical research  Dissertation
D2  demonstrate advanced research and information retrieval skills  Dissertation

This award will meet the BACP requirements for both teaching and clinical placement hours undertaken during training, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date. However, graduates would also need to accumulate further post qualification clinical hours to make that application.
How you will learn

The programme is delivered through a range of teaching methods including:
- Interactive lectures – including audio / visual aids, film, arts, music
- Workshops, including role-play, participative learning and use of creative / arts materials for experiential exercises,
- Student-led presentations
- Private study of pre-set teaching session reading, and the recommended Module texts and materials
- Clinical Placement, working with ‘real’ clients
- Experiential Group to examine personal and interpersonal issues and to explore group dynamics.
- Group tutorials focusing on planning and preparing for assessments

There is a strong encouragement of student participation throughout the programme.

Students are encouraged to take responsibility for their learning through ongoing self, peer and tutor feedback systems, and through formative and summative assessments.

How you will be assessed

Assessment methods are diverse to respond to diversity in learning styles and to allow students to evidence a range of capabilities and forms of ‘knowledge’.

To maximise the student’s potential and to facilitate a diversity of learning styles, a variety of teaching, learning and assessment methods are employed on the programme. These include interactive lectures, seminars, group tutorials, counselling skills training, student-led individual and group presentations, reflective practice groups, counselling placements, experiential group, and independent study.

Academic support

Support for learning and wellbeing is provided in number of ways by departments and College support services who work collaboratively to ensure students get the right help to reach their best potential both academically and personally.

Students are allocated a personal tutor and a Senior Tutor in each department who has overall responsibility for progress and welfare. Departments arrange regular communication to students in the form of mailings and meetings as well as regular progress reports and feedback on coursework and assignments. This is in addition to scheduled seminars, tutorials and lectures/workshops.
Every student is assigned a personal tutor who will meet with their student twice a year either face-to-face, as part of a group and/or electronically, the first of which normally takes place within the first few weeks of the first term. Personal tutors are also available to students throughout the year of study. These meetings aim to discuss progress on modules, discussion of the academic discipline and reports from previous years if available (for continuing students). This way progress, attendance, essay/coursework/assessment marks can be reviewed, and an informed discussion can be about how to strengthen learning and success.

Students are sent information about learning resources in the Library and on the VLE so that they have access to programme handbooks, programme information and support related information and guidance. Timetables are made available in advance of the start of term so that students can begin to manage their preparation and planning.

Taught sessions and lectures provide overviews of coursework themes, which students are encouraged to complement with intensive reading. Coursework essays build on lectures and seminars, so students are encouraged to attend all taught sessions to build knowledge and their own understanding of their chosen discipline.

In depth feedback is provided for written assignments and essays via written feedback forms and formative feedback with module tutors/leads is provided to ensure that students’ work is on the right track. Feedback comes in many forms and not only as a result of written comments on a marked essay. Students are given feedback on developing projects and practice as they attend workshops and placements.

Students may be referred to specialist student services by department staff or they may access support services independently. Information about support services is clearly provided on the College Website and for new students through new starter information and induction/Welcome Week. Any support recommendations that are made are agreed with the student and communicated to the department so that adjustments to learning and teaching are able to be implemented at a department level and students can be reassured that arrangements are in place. Opportunities are provided for students to review their support arrangements should their circumstances change. The Inclusion and Learning Support and Wellbeing Teams maintain case loads of students and provide on-going support.

The Careers Service provides central support for skills enhancement, running the Gold Award Scheme and other co-curricular activities that are accredited via the higher education achievement report (HEAR).

The Academic Skills Centre works with academic departments offering bespoke academic literacy sessions. It also provides a programme of academic skills workshops and one-to-one provision throughout the year, which students can access directly at gold.ac.uk/asc/.

Indicators of quality, including employment prospects of postgraduates

- Graduates of the programme have been employed in a variety of contexts including NHS, voluntary sector and education.
- Many graduates have applied for and gained individual accreditation as counsellors with the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP) or other professional bodies.
- Dissertations from the third year, may with staff support be recommended for publication.
- On completion of the MA Counselling, a possible academic progression route for students to consider is to apply for MPhil/PhD study.
The programme aims to develop the following skills within our graduates:

1. Solving Problems – through the development of critical thinking in the theory and practice based elements of the training. The programme allows students to develop the skills and attitude to think reflectively about presenting issues and problems.

2. Business skills – students are supported in developing an approach to working within the professional context and understanding issues of conduct and contextual negotiation. They also experience, through their placements, the types of agencies and realities of working in their field.

3. Interpersonal skills – at the core of curriculum there is an emphasis on relational capabilities to work with a range of people, clients, colleagues, other professionals etc. They also develop skills to manage challenging interpersonal situations.

4. Intrapersonal skills – through the Reflective Practitioner Module, Case Management Seminars and personal therapy students are encouraged to develop self-awareness, and to reflect on their own social/cultural positionings. Students also are encouraged to plan and organise a research dissertation and manage time appropriately in both the academic and clinical context.

5. Communication - graduates would have a highly-developed set of communication skills which have been honed through their clinical practice, experiential groups, supervision and presentation of their work in a variety of contexts.

The requirements of a Goldsmiths degree

Master's Degrees

All Master's degrees at Goldsmiths have a minimum value of 180 credits. Programmes are comprised of modules which have individual credit values. In order to be eligible for the award of a Master's degree students must have passed all modules on the programme.

Intermediate Exit Points

Some programmes incorporate intermediate exit points of Postgraduate Certificate and Postgraduate Diploma, which may be awarded on the successful completion of modules to the value of 60 credits or 120 credits respectively. Individual programmes may specify which, if any, combination of modules are required in order to be eligible for the award of these qualifications. The awards are made without classification.

Final Classification

There are four possible categories of final classification for Master's degrees: Distinction, Merit, Pass and Fail.

For further information, For further information, please refer to the Regulations for Taught Programmes which may be found here: http://www.gold.ac.uk/gam/taught-programmes/.

Programme-specific rules and facts

General Programme Costs

In addition to your tuition fees, you will be responsible for meeting standard costs associated with your study. Find out more information here: https://www.gold.ac.uk/programme-costs.

Programme Specific Costs

Personal Therapy hours

Full and part time students are required to undertake a minimum of 60 personal therapy hours during the course of the programme (details of when and how this is to be undertaken can be found under Progression below). The cost of personal therapy is to be paid by the student to the therapist. Such cost can vary wildly depending on location, availability and income, but you can expect to pay between £25.00 to £80.00 per therapy session.

Clinical Placement Supervision
There can be a cost to attending certain placements, including a fee for training, supervision or additional supervision costs. These costs can vary. Students are not obliged to attend such placements, but if doing so, they should pay particular attention to the costs involved.

Travel
Students will be attending placements and therapy sessions during the course of their programme. Travel costs are the responsibility of students.

Attendance
Students are expected to attend all sessions prescribed for their programme. Registers are maintained and checked for prescribed sessions delivered by Goldsmiths (e.g. seminars, tutorials etc). Students are required to contact the programme convenor in relation to any absence. The programme convenor will determine if such absences are authorised. Two non-notified or non-authorised absences in a row, or a module or termly base attendance rate falling below 80%, may result in the matter being referred to the Academic Progress Committee, the College’s Fitness to Study process or Fitness to Practice process. This applies to both full and part time students. The College reserves the authority to take action in relation to unsatisfactory attendance, up to and including, withdrawal from Goldsmiths.

Progression

Full-time students must pass all first year compulsory modules in order to progress into year 2. It is expected that students will start to look for a Clinical Placement upon successful completion of their year one Practicum in May. They must then have all the relevant Clinical Placement paperwork signed off by the start of year 2, ready to begin actual clinical hours at the latest by week two of the winter term. There will be a review of any students who have not begun to see clients by week two and they may be required to interrupt until the following academic year to catch up with this. Despite these preparations it should be noted that students can only formally register for the second year clinical placement module on successful completion and progression from the first year.

Second year full time students must then pass all second year compulsory modules to gain their MA. This includes successfully accruing 100 clinical placement hours. Failure to do this would lead to a postponement of their graduation date.

Weekly Personal therapy must start at the latest by end of February in year one, and run continuously until the end of year two or when the student has completed their 100 hours of clinical placement, whichever runs longest. Short breaks of a maximum of 3 consecutive weeks are permitted at any one time for personal therapy, as long as a minimum of 60 hours actual hours of therapy are achieved overall.

If you do not successfully complete any module on the programme for any reason, and have to repeat ‘in attendance’ this will also incur additional fees.

Part-time students must pass all first year compulsory modules in order to progress into year 2. It is expected that students will start to look for a Clinical Placement upon successful completion of their year one Practicum in May. They must then have all the relevant paperwork signed off by the start of year 2, ready to start actual clinical hours at the latest by week two of the winter term. There will be a review of any students who have not begun to see clients by week two and they may be required to interrupt until the following academic year to catch up with this. Despite these preparations it should be noted that students can only formally register for the second year clinical placement module on successful completion and progression from the first year.
Students must then pass all compulsory second year modules except the clinical placement module, to progress to year three. If necessary, the clinical placement module can be carried over to be completed during year three.

Weekly Personal therapy must start at the latest by end of February in year one, and run continuously until the end of year two or when the student has completed their 100 hours of clinical placement, whichever runs longest. Short breaks of a maximum of 3 consecutive weeks are permitted at any one time for personal therapy, as long as a minimum of 60 hours actual hours of therapy are achieved overall.

If you do not successfully complete any module on the programme for any reason, and have to repeat ‘in attendance’ this will incur additional fees.

Early exit points

Students may exit the programme with either a PG Cert or a PG Dip if they meet the following criteria:

Exit awards will be awarded to students who have failed the overall programme but have accrued the relevant credits, or to those who meet the relevant criteria if they exit the programme early.

A Postgraduate Certificate in Counselling on completion of 90 credits, comprising modules:
- CO71001A Reflective practitioner
- CO71004A Psychodynamic Theories
- CO71008A Counsellor Competencies and Attitudes This award does not qualify students to practice

It is important to be aware that this academic award on its own, will not qualify you with enough face to face tutor contact or clinical placement hours to meet the requirements of the professional body, the BACP, if you later apply for individual accreditation with them.

A Postgraduate Diploma in Counselling on completion of 180 credits comprising modules:
- all the above modules plus
- CO71005A Applied Psychoanalysis
- CO71006A Research Methods
- CO71003A Advanced Theory
- CO71007A Clinical Placement

Full time students who exit year 2 with this award will have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date.

Part time students who exit at the end of year 2 with this award will not have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of our professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date. However, part time students who exit at the end of year 3 with this award will have achieved the appropriate number of teaching hours to meet the face to face tutor contact requirements of the professional body, the BACP, should individual accreditation be applied for at a later date.

In exceptional circumstances it may be necessary to dismiss students from the programme on the grounds of their unsuitability for training and fitness to practice. The grounds for this are as follows:

The student’s behaviour:
- Is confirmed to be damaging or dangerous to other people who use services, other students or programme providers;
- Creates an unacceptable risk to themselves or others.
If this behaviour occurs while on placement the following applies:

- In the case of a student enrolled on a programme of study which leads to an entitlement to practice as a member of a profession, conduct which might call into question his / her suitability to practice that profession.

How teaching quality will be monitored

Goldsmiths employs a number of methods to ensure and enhance the quality of learning and teaching on its programmes.

Programmes and modules must be formally approved against national standards and are monitored throughout the year in departmental staff / student forums and through the completion of module evaluation questionnaires. Every programme also has at least one External Examiner who produces an annual report which comments on the standards of awards and student achievement.

This output is considered with other relevant data in the process of Annual Programme Review, to which all programmes are subject, and which aims to identify both good practice and issues which require resolution.

Every six years all programmes within a department are also subject to a broader periodic review. This aims to ensure that they remain current, that the procedures to maintain the standards of the awards are working effectively and the quality of the learning opportunities and information provided to students and applicants is appropriate.

Detailed information on all of these procedures are published on the webpages of the Quality Office (http://www.gold.ac.uk/quality/).
