MA International Relations
Programme Specification

Awarding Institution:
University of London (Interim Exit Awards made by Goldsmiths’ College)

Teaching Institution: Goldsmiths, University of London

Name of Final Award and Programme Title: MA International Relations

Name of Interim Exit Award(s): Not applicable

Duration of Programme: 1 year full-time or 2 years part-time

UCAS Code(s): Not applicable

HECoS Code(s): (100490) International Relations

QAA Benchmark Group: Not applicable

FHEQ Level of Award: Level 7

Programme accredited by: Not applicable

Date Programme Specification last updated/approved: August 2017

Home Department: Politics and International Relations

Department(s) which will also be involved in teaching part of the programme:
Not applicable

Programme overview

This programme specification summarises the MA degree in International Relations (MA IS) offered in the Politics and International Relations Department at Goldsmiths, University of London, identifying learning outcomes and skills that a typical student should have achieved and developed by engaging fully in the learning process that is offered. Further details of the programme can be found online at www.gold.ac.uk and in the Departmental handbook for the MA International Relations.

At the centre of world politics today are a range of new issues: the global ‘war on terror’ the need to develop security frameworks which can meet the challenges set by international terrorist networks, and rising levels of ethnic and civic conflict; the ongoing crisis in core units of global governance; the emergence of human rights and humanitarian intervention which challenge taken-for-granted conceptions about international order, and concerns about human security issues which arise from high levels of environmental degradation and the spread of infectious diseases such as HIV/AIDS. The MA in International Relations provides students with the opportunity to explore these issues in an interdisciplinary setting, using a strong theoretical basis in order to better understand a range of empirical issues. The programme aims to promote independent critical and evaluative skills as well as an intellectual curiosity in international relations. It seeks to expand students’ knowledge of the issues which make up contemporary world politics and provide them with a deep level of understanding into the many facets which lie behind contemporary international politics.

Programme entry requirements

Students should normally have successfully completed an undergraduate programme in a relevant subject and obtained a good grade in their final papers (usually an Upper Second Class Honours). However, the Politics and International Relations Department is committed to widening participation in its degree programmes, including taught postgraduate modules, and welcomes applications from those who have a substantial amount of relevant work experience, but who lack formal qualifications. In such cases entrance is by interview/portfolio or equivalent evidence of research interests as well as the submission of an essay on a topic determined by the department. Applicants who do not have the relevant first degree are encouraged to approach the department informally before submitting an application.

Aims of the programme

The educational aims of the programme are informed by Goldsmiths' declared focus on stimulating knowledge and self-discovery through creative, radical and intellectually rigorous thinking and practice; the UK Quality Code; the National Qualifications Framework; and the Goldsmiths Learning and Teaching Strategy.

The main purpose of the programme is to provide students with a thorough grounding in the principles of social research as applied to the substantive fields of International Relations and International Politics. It is designed to equip students with the tools necessary to understand International Relations and International Politics to a level appropriate to progression to doctoral level, employment in policy-related research or in research management in both national and international organisations. The module also provides opportunities to explore a range of topics in the field of political ideas, political and social theory through a variety of options modules.

What you will be expected to achieve

The learning outcomes for the programme (listed below) include knowledge, cognitive, and transferable skills which are widely sought and generally expected from students who have successfully completed a postgraduate programme of study in the social sciences as well as skills and understandings that are more subject specific.
Knowledge and understanding

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Learning outcome</th>
<th>Taught by the following module(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A1</td>
<td>Develop familiarity with key topics and themes in International Relations.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A2</td>
<td>Acquire comprehensive knowledge of methods, concepts and terminologies employed in the study of International Affairs and the interpretation of political action in the contemporary world.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A3</td>
<td>Demonstrate a high-level understanding of the core theoretical tools in International Relations.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A4</td>
<td>Formulate and present views, in a coherent and persuasive fashion, about international political behaviour and events.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Cognitive and thinking skills

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Learning outcome</th>
<th>Taught by the following module(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>B1</td>
<td>Critically examine and apply a range of ideas, theories and studies, found in non-academic as well as academic sources, to contemporary international political events, practices and processes.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B2</td>
<td>Demonstrate an ability to make sophisticated and discriminating use of the language and concepts found in contemporary international politics.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B3</td>
<td>Accurately present and critically evaluate rival views of international politics.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B4</td>
<td>Undertake independent research – utilising electronic and conventional library resources as well as material from secondary and primary sources – into global events, issues and processes.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B5</td>
<td>Produce written work of a standard that fully meets the expectations of assessors and examiners and satisfies the requirement that written work is presented, organised and referenced in</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Subject specific skills and professional behaviours and attitudes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Learning outcome</th>
<th>Taught by the following module(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>C1</td>
<td>Acquire comprehensive knowledge and understanding of major theories and theoretical works in the field of International Relations.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C2</td>
<td>Acquire comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the ideologies and theories that have most powerfully shaped and influenced contemporary international political argument and debate.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C3</td>
<td>Acquire comprehensive knowledge and understanding of contemporary theoretical and empirical debates about such matters as the question of culture and politics, of terrorism and asymmetric conflict, the place of radical forms of protest in the making of the modern world, and the sources of international instability.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C4</td>
<td>Be able to analyse the relationship between theory and practice as it relates to the study of the international.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Transferable skills

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Learning outcome</th>
<th>Taught by the following module(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>D1</td>
<td>Critical communication and discussion skills.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D2</td>
<td>Accessing and utilising bibliographical, official and academic resources in both hard copy and electronic form.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D3</td>
<td>A capacity for independent judgement and open-mindedness.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Code</td>
<td>Learning outcome</td>
<td>Taught by the following module(s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D4</td>
<td>Time management skills at a level appropriate for a postgraduate degree.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D5</td>
<td>The ability to read, listen carefully and critically engage with material appropriate for a postgraduate degree.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D6</td>
<td>The capacity to work collaboratively in groups.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D7</td>
<td>The experience of using research strategies to a level appropriate to progression to doctoral level or in research management.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D8</td>
<td>The ability to appraise critically existing studies, judge their usefulness, and be able to apply this learning practically.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D9</td>
<td>Undertake an independent research project through the dissertation.</td>
<td>Dissertation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D10</td>
<td>Employ experience of using research strategies to a level appropriate to progression to doctoral level.</td>
<td>Theories of International Relations, Dissertation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

How you will learn

The department is strongly committed to the use of seminars in delivering its curriculum at postgraduate level, and in engaging its students in the learning process. All modules provide students with an opportunity to participate in discussions designed to explore and reinforce the knowledge they have gained through reading and making presentations. Seminars use a range of methods including lectures, student presentations, group work, brainstorming sessions and, on occasion, short quizzes. Specifically, seminars provide an environment in which students will acquire and demonstrate knowledge and understanding skills outlined in A1-4, cognitive and thinking skills outlined in B 1-3, subject specific skills outlined in C1-4, and transferable skills outlined in D1, D3, D5-6.

In addition to timetabled teaching, students obtain support from academic staff by discussing their work with staff during regular office hours and tutorials. Tutorials help to inculcate subject specific learning outcomes C1-4 and provide an environment in which students can demonstrate and discuss the requisite knowledge and understanding skills in A1-4 along with cognitive and thinking skills in B1-4. Tutorials provide a conducive environment for the learning and teaching of transferable skills D1, D3 and D4, focusing particularly on the preparation for, and feedback from, assessed (summative) and (formative) unassessed essays.
Each full-time member of the academic staff offers at least two guaranteed office hours per week during term time. Support for independent study is constantly being developed and improved, and students now benefit from the wide range of facilities available in the Rutherford Information Services Building (RISB). The RISB provides access to and advice on the use of a wide range of library and electronic resources. Students have access to the British Library’s social science holdings, and the libraries at the London School of Economics and Senate House which together hold an extensive collection of books and journals in the field of International Relations. The department enjoys corporate membership of the Royal Institute of International Affairs (Chatham House). This allows students the chance to benefit from the many events hosted by Chatham House as well as use its library which holds an excellent stock of subject specific material. In addition, a wide range of audio-visual materials are available to all postgraduate students within the RISB collection.

How you will be assessed

Outcomes are assessed – both summatively and formatively – through coursework, presentations, written papers, and the dissertation. Student skills in expressing himself/herself in writing are strongly promoted across the programme by the requirement to submit written work in the form of assessed coursework. In order to obtain the degree, students must achieve at least a Pass in each of the modules that make up the degree programme.

The assessment strategy for the compulsory modules is an in-depth 4,000-5,000 word essay that is designed in consultation with a staff member. Students also submit a 10,000 word dissertation at the end of the module on a topic which is conducted under the supervision of a member of staff. The criteria for assessing written work are set out clearly in the programme handbook and underline the importance attached by staff to clear expression, informed argument and a rigorous, analytical approach to the study of international politics.

Specifically, subject specific skills C1-4 are assessed in coursework essays and the dissertation insofar as the demonstration of these learning outcomes provides evidence that students have acquired the requisite knowledge to be awarded the degree. Knowledge and understanding skills A1-4 and cognitive and thinking skills B1-5 are also assessed by the dissertation and the course essays with particular attention in essays and the dissertation to the achievement of B4 and B5. Transferable skills D2-5 are assessed through all forms of assessment on the course. Skills D7-10 pertain especially to the coursework essays and the dissertation. The oral communication skills in D1 are assessed formatively via seminar presentations and discussions as are the group skills identified in D6.
Marking criteria

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mark</th>
<th>Descriptor</th>
<th>Specific Marking Criteria</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 80-100% | Distinction (Outstanding/Exceptional) | Represents the overall achievement of the learning outcomes and the skills below to an exceptional level:
- Clear and logical argument with appropriate linkages
- Analytical use of key concepts in exposition
- Appropriate location in relevant literature
- Relation of theoretical and empirical material
- Location of subject within a wider framework of debate
- Good use of theory in structuring hypotheses
- Skilled application of selected research techniques
- Thorough organisation and planning
- Location and use of source materials
- Implementation of strategies for collecting information
- Clarity of expression and appropriate use of language
- Accuracy in spelling, grammar and punctuation
- Consistency and thoroughness in referencing and bibliography |
| 70-79%  | Distinction             | Represents the overall achievement of the learning outcomes and the skills below to an excellent level:
- Clear and logical argument with appropriate linkages
- Analytical use of key concepts in exposition
- Appropriate location in relevant literature
- Relation of theoretical and empirical material
- Location of subject within a wider framework of debate
- Good use of theory in structuring hypotheses
- Skilled application of selected research techniques
- Thorough organisation and planning
- Location and use of source materials
- Implementation of strategies for collecting information
- Clarity of expression and appropriate use of language
- Accuracy in spelling, grammar and punctuation
- Consistency and thoroughness in referencing and bibliography |
| 60-69%  | Merit                   | Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to a good level. There will be very good use of many or most of features outlined above. However some aspects will be less fully realised. The work will not be as strongly original, distinctive or individual as a 70%+ grade answer.
- Overall structure of the argument is clear and coherent
- Evaluative use of key concepts |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mark</th>
<th>Descriptor</th>
<th>Specific Marking Criteria</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>50-59%</td>
<td>Pass</td>
<td>Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to a threshold level. There will be good use of some of the features of a 70%+ grade answer. However, some elements will be only partially realised. The work will not contain any serious omissions or irrelevancies.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30-49%</td>
<td>Fail</td>
<td>Represents an overall failure to achieve the appropriate learning outcomes. There may be errors, omissions or irrelevancies and significant elements of the learning outcomes and skills will be unmet.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Location of argument within relevant literature
- Awareness of relation between theory and empirical data
- Knowledge of position of subject matter in wider debates
- Use of theoretical material in structuring hypotheses
- Application of selected research techniques
- Effective organisation and planning
- Accessing relevant sources
- Competent implementation of strategies for collecting information
- Clarity of expression
- Appropriate spelling, grammar and punctuation
- Consistent use of referencing and bibliography

- Most of the argument will be clearly structured
- Understanding and recognition of key concepts
- Recognition of most of the relevant literature
- Limited, though fairly sound, use of theory and empirical data
- Some understanding of wider debates surrounding the subject
- Limited use of theory in structuring hypotheses
- Satisfactory use of chosen research methods
- Reasonable organisation and planning
- Accessing some relevant sources
- Limited use of strategies for collecting information
- Reasonably clear expression
- Mostly correct spelling, grammar and punctuation
- Referencing and bibliography broadly in line with guidelines

- Unclear structure and logical progression
- Limited understanding of key concepts
- Limited recognition of relevant literature
- Uneven use of theoretical and empirical materials
- Little understanding of wider debates surrounding the area
- Uneven application of theory in structuring hypotheses
- Uneven application of selected methods
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mark</th>
<th>Descriptor</th>
<th>Specific Marking Criteria</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 10-29% | Bad fail | Represents a significant overall failure to achieve the appropriate learning outcomes. Students will show minimal or no evidence of knowledge or understanding of key themes and issues. The work will suffer from one or more of the following:
• Structure and logic are weak and muddled
• Very limited understanding of key concepts
• Little recognition of relevant literature
• Little use of theoretical and empirical material
• Very little understanding of the subject in the context of wider debates
• Very limited application of theory in structuring hypotheses
• Poor application of selected research methods
• Disorganised research and lack of planning
• Little accessing of relevant sources
• Unclear expression which distorts argument
• Many mistakes in spelling, grammar and punctuation
• Little accuracy in referencing and bibliography |
| 1-9% | Very bad fail | A submission that does not address the specified learning outcomes (shall be deemed a non-valid attempt and the unit must be re-sat). The work will suffer in some degree from most or all of the characteristics below:
• Structure and logic are very unclear
• Little or no understanding of key concepts
• Very poor or no recognition of relevant literature
• Very poor or no use of theoretical and empirical material
• No recognition of subject in the light of wider debates
• Poor application of theory in structuring hypotheses
• Very poor application of selected research methods
• Very poor organisation and planning
• Very poor or no accessing of relevant literature
• Very unclear expression which distorts argument
• Very poor spelling, grammar and punctuation
• No referencing or bibliography |
How the programme is structured

The programme is available in full-time (1 year) and part-time (2 years) modes.

All students must complete modules to a value of 120 credits and a dissertation with a value of 60 credits.

Part-time students take the compulsory module Theories of International Relations (30 credits), plus a further 30 credits in their first year. In their second year, they take their dissertation and modules to a value of 30 credits. The dissertation must be completed and submitted by mid-September of the year of completion.

Optional modules

You choose modules to the value of 90 credits from:

Either a list provided by the Department of Politics and International Relations at the beginning of the academic year. Or

A combination of modules from:

- A list provided by the department at the beginning of the academic year, and
- Other modules from other departments in the college approved by the Department of Politics and International Relations, but not amounting to more than 30 CATS from outside the Department of Politics and International Relations

Progression Requirements

Part-time candidates will normally be required to have passed the compulsory module before proceeding to the second year.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Module Title</th>
<th>Module Code</th>
<th>Credits</th>
<th>Level</th>
<th>Module Status</th>
<th>Term</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Theories of International Relations</td>
<td>PO71044A</td>
<td>30</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>Compulsory</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EITHER: 90 CATS of optional modules from a list provided by the Department</td>
<td>Various</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>Optional</td>
<td>1-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Module Title</td>
<td>Module Code</td>
<td>Credits</td>
<td>Level</td>
<td>Module Status</td>
<td>Term</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>---------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>of Politics and International Relations</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OR: A combination of modules to the value of 90 CATS from: a list provided annually by the Department of Politics and International Relations; other modules from other departments in the College, approved by the Department of Politics and International Relations, but not amounting to more than 30 CATS from outside the Department of Politics and International Relations</td>
<td>Various</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>Optional</td>
<td>1-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dissertation</td>
<td>P071020B</td>
<td>60</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>Compulsory</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Academic support

Support for learning and wellbeing is provided in a number of ways by departments and College support services who work collaboratively to ensure students get the right help to reach their best potential both academically and personally.

All students are allocated a Personal Tutor (one in each department for joint programmes) who has overall responsibility for their individual progress and welfare. Personal Tutors meet with their student at least twice a year either face-to-face, as part of a group and/or electronically. The first meeting normally takes place within the first few weeks of the autumn term. Personal Tutors are also available to students throughout the year of study. These meetings aim to discuss progress on modules, discussion of the academic discipline and reports from previous years if available (for continuing students). This provides an opportunity for progress, attendance and assessment marks to be reviewed and an informed discussion to take place about how to strengthen individual learning and success.

All students are also allocated a Senior Tutor to enable them to speak to an experienced academic member of staff about any issues which are negatively impacting their academic study and which are beyond the normal scope of issues handled by Programme Convenors and Personal Tutors.
Students are provided with information about learning resources, the Library and information available on Learn.gold (VLE) so that they have access to department/programme handbooks, programme information and support related information and guidance.

Taught sessions and lectures provide overviews of themes, which students are encouraged to complement with intensive reading for presentation and discussion with peers at seminars. Assessments build on lectures and seminars so students are expected to attend all taught sessions to build knowledge and their own understanding of their chosen discipline.

All assessed work is accompanied by some form of feedback to ensure that students’ work is on the right track. It may come in a variety of forms ranging from written comments on a marked essay to oral and written feedback on developing projects and practice as they attend workshops.

Students may be referred to specialist student services by department staff or they may access support services independently. Information about support services is provided on the Goldsmiths website and for new students through new starter information and induction/Welcome Week. Any support recommendations that are made are agreed with the student and communicated to the department so that adjustments to learning and teaching are able to be implemented at a department level and students can be reassured that arrangements are in place. Opportunities are provided for students to review their support arrangements should their circumstances change. The Disability and Wellbeing Services maintain caseloads of students and provide on-going support.

The Careers Service provides central support for skills enhancement, running The Gold Award scheme and other co-curricular activities that are accredited via the Higher Education Achievement Report (HEAR).

The Academic Skills Centre works with academic departments offering bespoke academic literacy sessions. It also provides a programme of academic skills workshops and one-to-one provision for students throughout the year.

Links with employers, placement opportunities and career prospects

The MA International Relations programme is likely to prove especially attractive to those with interests in the field of world politics who are considering further study at the PhD level or careers in areas such as diplomatic service or international organisations where an understanding of international politics is essential. The programme also offers valuable theoretical background and analytical skills for those working in international corporations, NGOs, defence industries and many areas of government.

Students on the MA IS programme also have the opportunity to take a work placement programme, which constitutes one of the optional modules to the value of 30 CATS. This module gives students the chance to work with a host organisation for two days a week over the Spring term. They then reflect on their experience and the kind of work with which they have been involved in an assessed essay. In the past, students have worked in a wide variety of placements, largely derived from a pool that has been developed by the Politics and International Relations department over recent years. The department works hard to ensure a good link between students' interests and their placement. In recent years, students have worked at a wide range of organisations, from small development NGOs to international consultancies. This enables students to gain invaluable experience and allows them to develop their CVs at a critical time. It has proved a popular module on the course.

The requirements of a Goldsmiths degree

All taught postgraduate degrees have a minimum total value of 180 credits and involve one calendar year of full-time study. Some programmes may extend over more than one calendar year and, when this is the case, they have a higher total credit value. Programmes are composed of individual modules, each of which has its own credit value. Part-time students normally take modules to the value of 90 credits each year. If a programme has a part-time pathway, the structure will be set out in the section “How the programme is structured” above. Normally, all modules are at level 7 of the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications.

More detailed information about the structure and requirements of a Goldsmiths degree is provided in the Goldsmiths Qualifications and Credit Framework.

Modules

Modules are defined as:

- “Optional” – which can be chosen from a group of modules
- “Compulsory” – which must be taken as part of the degree

Progression

Some programmes may require students to pass specific modules prior to completion of the dissertation/major project (or equivalent). Additionally, where a programme of study extends beyond one calendar year, students may be required to pass specific modules in their first year of study before progressing to the second year. Where this is the case, these requirements will be set out in this Programme Specification.

Award of the degree

In order to graduate, students must successfully complete all modules specified for the programme, as set out within the section “How the programme is structured” above.

Classification

Final degree classification is calculated on the basis of a student’s mean average mark (based on credit value) across all modules on the programme.

Masters degrees are awarded with the following classifications:

- Distinction – 70%+
- Merit – 60-69%
- Pass – 50-59%

More detail on the calculation of the final classification is on our website.

Interim exit awards

Some programmes incorporate interim exit points of Postgraduate Certificate and/or Postgraduate Diploma, which may be awarded on the successful completion of modules to the minimum value of 60 credits or 120 credits respectively. The awards are made without classification.

When these awards are incorporated within the programme, the relevant learning outcomes and module requirements will be set out within the “What you will be expected to achieve” section above.

The above information is intended as a guide, with more detailed information available in the Goldsmiths Academic Manual.

Programme-specific rules and facts

General programme costs

In addition to your tuition fees, you will be responsible for meeting standard costs associated with your study. Find out more information at gold.ac.uk/programme-costs.
Specific programme costs

Not applicable.

How teaching quality will be monitored

Goldsmiths employs a number of methods to ensure and enhance the quality of learning and teaching on its programmes.

Programmes and modules are formally approved against national standards and are monitored throughout the year, such as in departmental committees, a variety of student feedback mechanisms and through the completion of module evaluation questionnaires. Every programme has at least one External Examiner who reviews comments annually on the standards of awards and student achievement. External Examiner(s) attend Boards of Examiners meetings and submit an annual written report.

Modules, programmes and/or departments are also subject to annual and periodic review internally, as well as periodic external scrutiny.

Quality assurance processes aim to ensure Goldsmiths’ academic provision remains current, that the procedures to maintain the standards of the awards are working effectively and the quality of the learning opportunities and information provided to students and applicants is appropriate.

Detailed information on all these procedures are published on the Quality Office web pages.