

MA Black British Literature

Programme Specification

Awarding Institution:

University of London (Interim Exit Awards made by Goldsmiths' College)

Teaching Institution: Goldsmiths, University of LondonName of Final Award and Programme Title: MA Black British LiteratureName of Interim Exit Award(s):

Postgraduate Certificate in Black British Literature

Postgraduate Diploma in Black British Literature

Duration of Programme: 1 year full-time or 2 years part-timeUCAS Code(s): Not applicableHECoS Code(s): (100319) English LiteratureQAA Benchmark Group: Not applicableFHEQ Level of Award: Level 7Programme accredited by: Not applicableDate Programme Specification last updated/approved: October 2020Home Department: English and Creative WritingDepartment(s) which will also be involved in teaching part of the programme:

Theatre and Performance

Programme overview

Black British writing crystallised as a literary category, at the end of the twentieth century. It is generally understood to encompass the writing of black Britons (of African descent) whose work speaks from a sensibility and standpoint quite distinct from the migration or arriviste narratives of previous generations of people in the UK who termed themselves Black writers. Many established scholars of contemporary literature working in Britain, Europe, Africa, and Asia occasionally teach a course or two incorporating Black British writers, do research on Black British texts, and publish articles and books on these interests. However, this Goldsmiths MA Black British Literature means the University of London will break new ground in preparing and empowering scholar-specialists in this growing and exciting field of study.

If the humanities are to serve the multi-cultures of Britain, the building of a critical infrastructure that retrieves, assesses and articulates a fuller compass of inclusion is vital for intellectual and public awareness. In studying this MA, you will become part of this process.

The MA provides opportunities to experience events featuring many of the writers and practitioners studied. It also gives you contact with contemporary Black British writing, drama and performance from within Britain. You will have access to the Black Cultural Archive, and the Black Theatre Archive at the Royal National Theatre as part of fieldwork tasks and further research.

The degree is made up of: (I) two compulsory modules, (II) two options, which students choose, and (III) a dissertation.

Programme entry requirements

The standard requirement is an upper second class (or higher) BA or equivalent degree in English, Drama, History, Caribbean Studies, or a related humanities/arts subject (e.g. Language, Philosophy); but other qualifications of equivalent level may be considered; as are degree results below the upper second class where there are indications of academic strength in this specialisation.

A high level of competence in written and spoken English is also required. Students whose first language is not English need a minimum score of 7.0 in IELTS (including 7.0 in the written element) or equivalent.

Students without BA-equivalent qualifications who have substantial work experience (e.g. in literary journalism, creative writing, publishing etc.) which may be considered as equivalent to formal qualifications, may be admitted provided they demonstrate analytical and academic writing skills to the necessary level. Criteria for entry to the programme emphasises the self-motivation and research interests of the candidate. Unconditional places might be offered in particular to overseas students on the strength of a written application alone where this fulfils all the basic admissions criteria. Applicants able to travel will be invited for an interview before being offered a place in one of several interview days offered by the Convenor.

Aims of the programme

The programme specification is informed by: Goldsmiths' declared focus on 'the study of creative, cultural and social processes'; the QAA Code of Practice; the National Qualifications Framework; and the GUL Learning and Teaching Strategy.

The main purpose of the programme is to offer a challenging, flexible and advanced scheme of study invigorated by current research, which extends students' specialist knowledge and critical and contextual understandings of Black British Literature, Drama and Performance. The programme aspires to:

1. enhance independent critical and evaluative skills
2. expand students' knowledge and understanding of the cultural, historical and intellectual foundations of Black British Literature and Drama.

3. develop an understanding of diverse literary trends, movements and schools informing the literature and its performativity
4. promote students' analytical engagement with the complexities of Black British and diasporic literary and performance discourses
5. deepen students' understanding of theorising and readings of the aesthetics of literary genres represented within the body of work
6. encourage students' self-development into professionally organised and interactive individuals by practising skills of selection, assimilation and communication in both written and oral domains.
7. facilitate a learning environment that offers an appropriate foundation for further scholarly research in Black British literary and performance studies

Although students would be strongly advised to take the options offered in this MA, in addition, students can opt to do an already existing module from the from the range of MA Contextual Modules (Drama) and MA Literary Studies (ECW) or any compatible MA module from College - subject to MA Convenors' approval and guidance. The Drama options include: African Theatre and Applied Theatre in Sites of Conflict. Alongside subject-specific competencies and knowledge, the training provided by the programme will help to develop a range of transferable intellectual, creative, communicative and theoretical skills which are applicable to a broad spectrum of employment contexts.

The programme is taught by researchers and writers with international profiles in the field and will draw upon a network of professional authors, performers, arts programmers, directors and publishers as well as scholars.

What you will be expected to achieve

For the Postgraduate Certificate to be awarded, modules to the value of at least 60CATS of one compulsory module and one option will have been passed and the following learning outcomes will have been achieved:

Knowledge and understanding

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
A1	a range of major literary works from the Black British corpus	All modules
A2	significant intellectual and historical contexts of Black British literary texts, poetics and performance	All modules
A3	a range of major critical definitions of the special characteristics of Black British literary and dramatic work	All modules

Cognitive and thinking skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
B1	conduct detailed textual analysis informed by appropriate contextual knowledge	All modules
B2	synthesise multiple, diverse, but relevant contexts and perspectives	All modules
B3	formulate coherent and persuasive interpretations and arguments informed by standards of scholarly accuracy	All modules

Subject specific skills and professional behaviours and attitudes

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
C1	perceive and account for interactions between cultural contexts and literary/performance forms in the creation and reception of textual meanings	All modules
C2	use close reading and performance analysis to produce critically informed independent interpretations of	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
	challengingly innovative literary texts and performances
C3	produce own written work to scholarly standards in organisation, relevance, expression, referencing, and bibliography	All modules
C4	prepare, contribute to, and on occasion lead seminar discussion on complex texts and contextual issues.	All modules

Transferable skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
D1	enhanced communication and discussion skills, in written and oral contexts	All modules
D2	facility in accessing verbal data using hard copy / electronic resources	All modules
D3	capacity to handle ideas in rational, critical and evaluative ways	All modules
D4	open-mindedness and capacity for independent judgement	All modules
D5	management of own learning, including working effectively to deadlines	All modules
D6	application of skills of close analysis to a variety of texts and contexts	All modules
D7	ability to make positive contributions to groups, and perception of group dynamics	All modules

For the Postgraduate Diploma to be awarded, modules to the value of at least 120CATS including the compulsory modules, will have been passed and the following learning outcomes will have been achieved:

Knowledge and understanding

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
A1	a range of major literary works from the Black British corpus	All modules
A2	significant bodies of literary work representative of major tendencies and problems in Black British writing and performance	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
A3	significant intellectual and historical contexts of Black British literary texts, poetics and performance	All modules
A4	selected critical and theoretical debates about the characteristics of literary and dramatic innovation in the Black British writing and performance	All modules
A5	a range of major critical definitions of the special characteristics of Black British literary and dramatic work	All modules

Cognitive and thinking skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
B1	conduct detailed textual analysis informed by appropriate contextual knowledge	All modules
B2	synthesise multiple, diverse, but relevant contexts and perspectives	All modules
B3	Formulate coherent and persuasive interpretations and arguments informed by standards of scholarly accuracy	All modules

Subject specific skills and professional behaviours and attitudes

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
C1	perceive and account for interactions between cultural contexts and literary/performance forms in the creation and reception of textual meanings	All modules
C2	use close reading and performance analysis to produce critically informed independent interpretations of challengingly innovative literary texts and performances	All modules
C3	analyse processes of change in the generic conventions of Black British literary and performance texts	All modules
C4	use a range of critical commentary and theoretical perspectives discriminatingly	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
C5	produce own written work to scholarly standards in organisation, relevance, expression, referencing, and bibliography	All modules
C6	research literary topics using data resources and collecting and sifting primary and secondary evidence	All modules
C7	prepare, contribute to, and on occasion lead seminar discussion on complex texts and contextual issues	All modules

Transferable skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
D1	enhanced communication and discussion skills, in written and oral contexts	All modules
D2	facility in accessing verbal data using hard copy / electronic resources	All modules
D3	capacity to handle ideas in rational, critical and evaluative ways	All modules
D4	open-mindedness and capacity for independent judgement	All modules
D5	management of own learning, including working effectively to deadlines	All modules
D6	application of skills of close analysis to a variety of texts and contexts	All modules
D7	ability to make positive contributions to groups, and perception of group dynamics	All modules

Students who successfully complete the MA should have demonstrated achievement of the following outcomes:

Knowledge and understanding

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
A1	a range of major literary works from the Black British corpus	All modules
A2	significant bodies of literary work representative of major tendencies and problems in Black British writing and performance	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
A3	significant intellectual and historical contexts of Black British literary texts, poetics and performance	All modules
A4	selected critical and theoretical debates about the characteristics of literary and dramatic innovation in the Black British writing and performance	All modules
A5	methods, concepts and appropriate terminologies in advanced literary study	All modules, Dissertation
A6	a range of major critical definitions of the special characteristics of Black British literary and dramatic work	All modules
A7	a selected topic in this field, and the secondary scholarly literature devoted to it	All modules, Dissertation

Cognitive and thinking skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
B1	conduct detailed textual analysis informed by appropriate contextual knowledge	All modules
B2	synthesise multiple, diverse, but relevant contexts and perspectives	All modules
B3	assimilate and critically evaluate alternative accounts of complex cultural formations	All modules, Dissertation
B4	formulate coherent and persuasive interpretations and arguments informed by standards of scholarly accuracy	All modules
B5	Integrate diverse evidence into coherent comparative evaluations	All modules, Dissertation

Subject specific skills and professional behaviours and attitudes

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
C1	perceive and account for interactions between cultural contexts and literary/performance forms in the creation and reception of textual meanings	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
C2	use close reading and performance analysis to produce critically informed independent interpretations of challengingly innovative literary texts and performances	All modules
C3	analyse processes of change in the generic conventions of Black British literary and performance texts	All modules
C4	use a range of critical commentary and theoretical perspectives discriminatingly	All modules
C5	produce own written work to scholarly standards in organisation, relevance, expression, referencing, and bibliography	All modules
C6	research literary topics using data resources and collecting and sifting primary and secondary evidence	All modules
C7	understand and apply accurately the terminologies appropriate to advanced literary studies	Dissertation, All modules
C8	design and execute an independent project of literary, theoretical research prepare, contribute to, and on occasion lead seminar discussion on complex texts and contextual issues	Dissertation, All modules
C9	prepare, contribute to, and on occasion lead seminar discussion on complex texts and contextual issues	All modules

Transferable skills

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
D1	enhanced communication and discussion skills, in written and oral contexts	All modules
D2	facility in accessing verbal data using hard copy / electronic resources	All modules
D3	capacity to handle ideas in rational, critical and evaluative ways	All modules
D4	open-mindedness and capacity for independent judgement	All modules
D5	management of own learning, including working effectively to deadlines	All modules

Code	Learning outcome	Taught by the following module(s)
D6	application of skills of close analysis to a variety of texts and contexts	All modules
D7	power to organise information, and to assimilate and evaluate competing arguments	All modules
D8	ability to make positive contributions to groups, and perception of group dynamics	All modules
D9	evaluate and assess a range of research methods and develop a critical appreciation of internet applications as a resource and for bibliographic searches	Dissertation, All modules

How you will learn

Knowledge and Understanding:

Teaching and learning methods and strategies linked to these outcomes: The acquisition of these outcomes will be achieved via the lecture-seminar pedagogical framework and oral presentation with its attendant group discussion and analytical and critical perspectives.

Cognitive and Thinking Skills:

These skills are cultivated across the programme's syllabi. Through seminars and lectures students are continuously exposed to - and encouraged to evolve - fresh perceptions and evaluations of Black British oral and literary forms, techniques and performativity; and through self-managed learning they further assimilate a range of contextual approaches to, and analyses of them. Students are encouraged to support their learning through attendance at live performances, readings, and literary events for which London offers a unique international context in theatre, performance and writing fora. The development of critical engagement is reinforced by the degree of archival and live access to Black British culture.

Subject-Specific skills:

These skills are cultivated across the curriculum, though with varying emphases according to course. In addition, the Programme Handbook provides initial advice on aspects of (5), and Information Services on aspects of (6). Suitable bibliographical information is normative for each module and its efficacy tested in student evaluation. The foundation modules provide a grounding in (1-4) and (7), and the option modules build further on that grounding, particularly in relation to (2). (8) is particularly addressed in the programme of individual supervision offered in the summer period, devoted to the dissertation and facilitated by guidance in the Programme Handbook. Tutor. Seminars are the forum for (9).

Transferable skills:

The combination of working in groups (workshops with guest tutors, lecture-seminars) and self-directed project work with individual tutorial support will produce outcomes (1-8) Computer applications will be supported by the College's existing student service.

How you will be assessed

Summative assessment takes the following forms, allowing students to demonstrate a range of appropriate skills:

(i) by a 6,000- word essay for the compulsory module and the options (some option modules are assessed differently, please check option information).

(ii) by a 12,000- 15,000 word dissertation.

Subject specific skills (1-7) are tested through the assessment methods of essays and dissertation. (8) is tested mainly but not exclusively in the dissertation. Outcomes (1, 2 and 5) are assessed – with various emphases according to the option – via two essays, one for the Drama Complementary Contextual Modules or a module from the ECW MA Literary Studies. Transferable skills 1, 6, 7 and 8 will be assessed in the students' seminar participation and responsiveness to guided reading. 2-5 and 7 will be assessed through the students' essays and dissertation.

Marking criteria

Mark	Descriptor	Specific Marking Criteria
80-100%	Distinction (Outstanding/ Exceptional)	In order to achieve 80% or over, the piece of work being assessed would need to demonstrate that the majority of the learning outcomes have been achieved to an Outstanding level. Marks in this category will be awarded for work which demonstrates a conceptual mastery of the material, is highly original and potentially shows new insights into both business and the application of creative process.
70-79%	Distinction	In order to achieve 70% or over, the piece of work being assessed would need to demonstrate that the majority of the learning outcomes have been achieved to an Excellent level (distinction threshold). Marks in this category will be awarded to work which shows conceptual and stylistic distinction; which features a secure and discriminating acquaintance with the field of study; which engages with the subject in a notably intelligent way; and which is clearly and accurately presented. The work will be of outstanding achievement in all or a consistent combination of the above areas

Mark	Descriptor	Specific Marking Criteria
60-69%	Merit	In order to achieve 60-69%, the piece or work being assessed would need to demonstrate that the majority of the learning outcomes have been achieved to a good extent. Some of the qualities of first-class work may be found in this category but the difference will be either of degree or realisation. The work will be characterised by soundness of argument or analysis, acquaintance with the field of study, coherence and relevance. The work should be of high merit in all these areas or considerable merit in some areas and a good standard in others.
50-59%	Pass	In order to achieve 50-59%, the piece of work being assessed would need to demonstrate that the majority of the appropriate learning outcomes have been achieved to a satisfactory extent. Marks in this range will reflect solid competence and achievement, although the work might be partial rather than consistent in clarity, precision and effectiveness. It might, for example, rely too heavily on secondary sources at the expense of personal critical activity; be insufficiently detailed; or tend towards description rather than analysis. The work should be of good standard in the areas listed in the classification above or good in some areas and of a satisfactory standard in others.
30-49%	Fail	Fail standard - the mark indicates that the work is below the standard of a Masters degree. The piece of work being assessed demonstrates that the majority of the outcomes have been achieved to a less than satisfactory extent. Marks in this range will reflect work that is significantly inconsistent or flawed in relation to all or some of the areas listed above.
10-29%	Bad fail	Represents a significant overall failure to achieve the appropriate learning outcomes at Masters standard.
1-9%	Very bad fail	A submission that does not even attempt to address the specified learning outcomes.
0%	Non submission or plagiarised	A categorical mark representing either the failure to submit an assessment or a mark assigned for a plagiarised assessment.

How the programme is structured

The programme consists of two compulsory modules, two optional modules and a dissertation. The compulsory module and the optional modules have a value 30 credits each, and the dissertation 60 credits.

Compulsory modules

1. Historicising the Field: From the Romans to the Present
2. Interculturality, Text, Poetics
3. Dissertation

Optional modules

1. Genre and Aesthetics of Contemporary Black British Writing
2. Literature of the Caribbean and Its Disaporas
3. Any other available option in English and Creative Writing, and Theatre and Performance

Each compulsory module is three hours per week of lecture-seminar over ten weeks. Each optional module is three hours of lecture-seminar over ten weeks in Autumn and Spring terms.

Part-time students in their first year will take:

Autumn term – EITHER Historicising the Field OR Option 1 Literature of the Caribbean and Its Diasporas (or any other available option).

Spring term – EITHER Genre and Aesthetics of Contemporary Black British Writing (or any other available option) OR Interculturality, Text, Poetics.

In their second year, part-time students will take the remaining programme modules.

Full-time mode

Module Title	Module Code	Credits	Level	Module Status	Term
Historicising the Field of Black British Writing: From the Romans to the Present	EN71148A	30	7	Compulsory	1
Interculturality, Text, Poetics	EN71088A	30	7	Compulsory	2
Optional modules from an approved list, such as:		60	7	Optional	1-2

Literature of the Caribbean and Its Diasporas	EN71063A	30	7	Optional	1
Genre and Aesthetics of Contemporary Black British Writing	EN71147A	30	7	Optional	2
Dissertation	EN71149A	60	7	Compulsory	3

Academic support

Support for learning and wellbeing is provided in a number of ways by departments and College support services who work collaboratively to ensure students get the right help to reach their best potential both academically and personally.

All students are allocated a Personal Tutor (one in each department for joint programmes) who has overall responsibility for their individual progress and welfare. Personal Tutors meet with their student at least twice a year either face-to-face, as part of a group and/or electronically. The first meeting normally takes place within the first few weeks of the autumn term. Personal Tutors are also available to students throughout the year of study. These meetings aim to discuss progress on modules, discussion of the academic discipline and reports from previous years if available (for continuing students). This provides an opportunity for progress, attendance and assessment marks to be reviewed and an informed discussion to take place about how to strengthen individual learning and success.

All students are also allocated a Senior Tutor to enable them to speak to an experienced academic member of staff about any issues which are negatively impacting their academic study and which are beyond the normal scope of issues handled by Programme Convenors and Personal Tutors.

Students are provided with information about learning resources, the Library and information available on Learn.gold \(VLE\) so that they have access to department/programme handbooks, programme information and support related information and guidance.

Taught sessions and lectures provide overviews of themes, which students are encouraged to complement with intensive reading for presentation and discussion with peers at seminars. Assessments build on lectures and seminars so students are expected to attend all taught sessions to build knowledge and their own understanding of their chosen discipline.

All assessed work is accompanied by some form of feedback to ensure that students' work is on the right track. It may come in a variety of forms ranging from written comments on a marked essay to oral and written feedback on developing projects and practice as they attend workshops.

Students may be referred to specialist student services by department staff or they may access support services independently. Information about support services is provided on the Goldsmiths website and for new students through new starter information and induction/Welcome Week. Any support recommendations that are made are agreed with the student and communicated to the department so that adjustments to learning and teaching are able to be implemented at a department level and students can be reassured that arrangements are in place. Opportunities are provided for students to review their support arrangements should their circumstances change. The Disability and Wellbeing Services maintain caseloads of students and provide on-going support.

The Careers Service provides central support for skills enhancement, running The Gold Award scheme and other co-curricular activities that are accredited via the Higher Education Achievement Report (HEAR).

The Academic Skills Centre works with academic departments offering bespoke academic literacy sessions. It also provides a programme of academic skills workshops and one-to-one provision for students throughout the year.

Links with employers, placement opportunities and career prospects

The programme has an active and ongoing relationship with the theatre industry and literary organisations. In addition, members of the full-time teaching staff have ongoing active professional relationships with a number of venues, professionally funded companies, organisations, producers, programmers and festivals including for example: Worlds of Colour Theatre Company, Black Theatre Archive (RNT), Royal Court Theatre, Theatre Royal Stratford East, Apples 'n' Snakes, New Black Arts Alliance, Peepal Tree Press, Mango Press, SABLE, New Beacon Books, Centreprise, Spread the Word, The Stephen Lawrence Trust, Synergy, Inside Job, the Victoria and Albert Theatre Museum holdings, Society for Theatre Research L.I.F.T, The Royal National Theatre, The Albany, The Young Vic, The Live Art Development Agency and a range of networks in the UK, across Europe, the US and internationally. Students are actively encouraged to build creative relationships via direct contact with the professionals whom they will encounter during their studies on the programme. The English and Creative Writing department curricula is regularly nourished by a pool of visiting UK and international artists who are variously independent, company and/or venue-based.

It is expected that graduates would proceed to a wide range of roles especially within the creative and cultural industries as well as in the local community-based arts and heritage sectors. Some students will go on to undertake further academic research in related fields.

The requirements of a Goldsmiths degree

All taught postgraduate degrees have a minimum total value of 180 credits and involve one calendar year of full-time study. Some programmes may extend over more than one calendar year and, when this is the case, they have a higher total credit value. Programmes are composed of individual modules, each of which has its own credit value. Part-time students normally take modules to the value of 90 credits each year. If a programme has a part-time pathway, the structure will be set out in the section “How the programme is structured” above. Normally, all modules are at level 7 of the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications.

More detailed information about the structure and requirements of a Goldsmiths degree is provided in the Goldsmiths Qualifications and Credit Framework.

Modules

Modules are defined as:

- “Optional” – which can be chosen from a group of modules
- “Compulsory” – which must be taken as part of the degree

Progression

Some programmes may require students to pass specific modules prior to completion of the dissertation/major project (or equivalent). Additionally, where a programme of study extends beyond one calendar year, students may be required to pass specific modules in their first year of study before progressing to the second year. Where this is the case, these requirements will be set out in this Programme Specification.

Award of the degree

In order to graduate, students must successfully complete all modules specified for the programme, as set out within the section “How the programme is structured” above.

Classification

Final degree classification is calculated on the basis of a student’s mean average mark (based on credit value) across all modules on the programme.

Masters degrees are awarded with the following classifications:

Distinction – 70%+
Merit – 60-69%

Pass – 50-59%

More detail on the calculation of the final classification is on our website.

Interim exit awards

Some programmes incorporate interim exit points of Postgraduate Certificate and/or Postgraduate Diploma, which may be awarded on the successful completion of modules to the minimum value of 60 credits or 120 credits respectively. The awards are made without classification.

When these awards are incorporated within the programme, the relevant learning outcomes and module requirements will be set out within the “What you will be expected to achieve” section above.

The above information is intended as a guide, with more detailed information available in the Goldsmiths Academic Manual.

Programme-specific rules and facts

General programme costs

In addition to your tuition fees, you will be responsible for meeting standard costs associated with your study. Find out more information at gold.ac.uk/programme-costs.

Specific programme costs

Not applicable.

How teaching quality will be monitored

Goldsmiths employs a number of methods to ensure and enhance the quality of learning and teaching on its programmes.

Programmes and modules are formally approved against national standards and are monitored throughout the year, such as in departmental committees, a variety of student feedback mechanisms and through the completion of module evaluation questionnaires. Every programme has at least one External Examiner who reviews comments annually on the standards of awards and student achievement. External Examiner(s) attend Boards of Examiners meetings and submit an annual written report.

Modules, programmes and/or departments are also subject to annual and periodic review internally, as well as periodic external scrutiny.

Quality assurance processes aim to ensure Goldsmiths' academic provision remains current, that the procedures to maintain the standards of the awards are working effectively and the quality of the learning opportunities and information provided to students and applicants is appropriate.

Detailed information on all these procedures are published on the Quality Office web pages.