Goldsmiths
UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

Distinct possibilities

Here at Goldsmiths, we are progressive and proud. Founded over 120 years ago, we have a rich academic legacy of creativity, curiosity and purpose. You'll be joining a world-renowned university where you are encouraged to express yourself, think critically, and consider how you can shape yourself and the future.

➤ Gain career-ready skills

80% of our undergraduate students move on to highly skilled work after their studies (Graduate Outcomes Survey).

➤ Enjoy London life

Study at one of the top ten universities in London (The Complete University Guide League Tables 2025) and experience all that London has to offer.

In 2025, London was voted the best student city in the world (QS Best Student Cities).

➤ Develop an entrepreneurial mindset

We are a top three university in the UK for producing business founders, and 12th for producing CEOs and MDs (Hitachi Capital Invoice Finance 2021).

“What I enjoyed most about the degree was the flexibility I had to direct my learning and explore my interests. From my first day on the course, I felt listened to and advocated for. Throughout my learning, I was encouraged to challenge myself and provided with opportunities to pursue my interests.”

Anika,

Inspiring spaces

Study at a London university with everything on one campus.

The library

The library is open 24-hours a day for Goldsmiths students.

With areas for individual and group study, Special Collections, and an events programme, our Library is very popular with students across all subjects.

Throughout the year, the library hosts academic support workshops to help you develop key skills including managing your workload and presenting, and if you have any questions, your subject librarian will be happy to help.

Student support

Our Student Support Services provide information, advice and guidance on all aspects of being a student – whether that’s wellbeing, counselling, housing, money advice or general advice and support.

If you have a disability, our Disability and Inclusion Service can also help with arranging any reasonable adjustments, equipment or support you need to study effectively at Goldsmiths.

Our Multi-Faith Chaplaincy offers support to all students, whether religious or not. It provides activities during the week, confidential pastoral care, and spaces for prayer and reflection.

Find out more about the support we offer at gold.ac.uk/students

Green spaces

The large College Green is a favourite campus spot among students, offering a moment of tranquillity in busy New Cross. Tucked behind the Richard Hoggart Building, it’s the perfect place to meet friends or play sports on a warm day.

Events on campus

Our subjects run regular events programmes throughout the year, meaning a campus is constantly abuzz with exhibitions, performances and talks from guest speakers. View events taking place on campus:

gold.ac.uk/events

University of London benefits

As a Goldsmiths student, you’ll also be able to access University of London facilities, including Senate House Library.

Campus highlights

“One of my favourite parts of studying at Goldsmiths was the College Green, especially in the summer. It was a lovely place to meet with friends to socialise and relax and get in that extra last-minute revision for an exam.”

Oliver,
Economics graduate

Café Thirty Five

A stylish café at the heart of the campus.

First floor of the Professor Stuart Hall Building (PSH)

The mezzanine here offers comfortable seating and panoramic views of the campus.

Goldsmiths Centre for Contemporary Art (CCA)

Our own public gallery hosts exhibitions and talks from world-class artists.

Benugo at the PSH

This café serves hot and cold food in a spectacular light-filled atrium.

Cinema

This 101-seat cinema is the ideal location to show student work.

‘The Squiggle’

The iconic two-storey metal sculpture sits on the top of the Ben Pimlott Building and dominates the New Cross skyline.

The Refectory

Catch up with friends for lunch in our food court-style canteen. From roasts to wraps, there’s lots of choice to keep everyone happy.

St James Hatcham

A former 19-century church that holds student exhibitions and creative computing labs.

Anthropology Garden

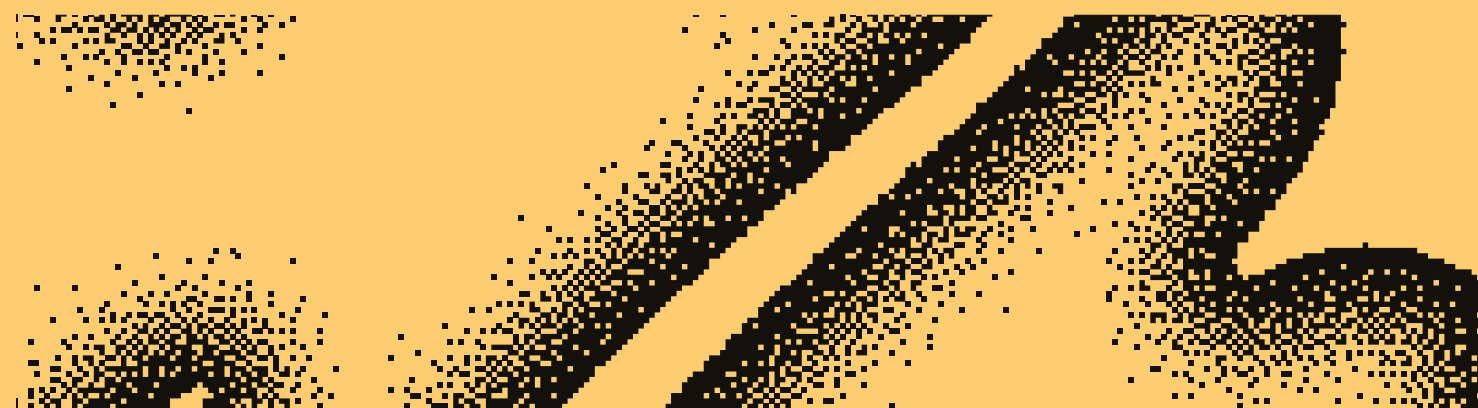

A peaceful spot that includes an allotment where students grow fruit and vegetables.

Deptford Town Hall

This Grade II-listed building is one of the most historic on campus, having been opened in 1905 as the Town Hall of the former Borough of Deptford.

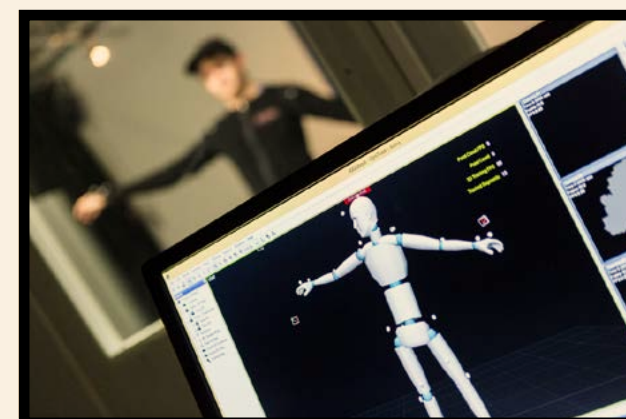

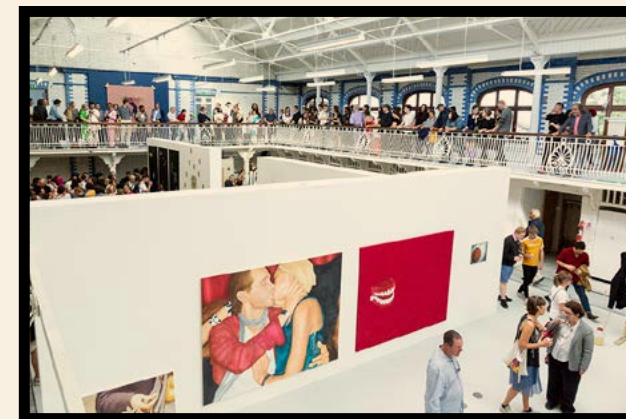

It was acquired by Goldsmiths in 1998. It reflects the area’s maritime connections, and on its front stand four statues with links either to Britain’s role in slavery or the colonial system that supported it. This symbolic decoration raises difficult questions about how to deal with historic celebrations of those who wielded imperial power and the College is developing a programme of work to explain and interpret their modern-day significance.

Remarkable facilities

Depending on which subject you choose, you may have access to industry-standard equipment and dedicated spaces to help develop your skills and creative practice.

Art

- All art students have their own studio space for the entire length of their degree; these are mixed across year levels to encourage peer-group learning.
- There are many specialist practice areas that complement traditional art disciplines: casting; woodwork; metal; ceramics; constructed textiles; fine art printmaking; graphics and time-based media; photography; print and dye; stitch and fabric and 3D printing.
- Each practice area is staffed with experienced technicians to support students.

Design

- Studio space is provided to all design students, and they are encouraged to use this to build a studio culture of collaborative practice and peer-to-peer learning.
- The School of Design has its own dedicated practice labs, staffed by experienced and supportive tutors.
- Labs include: a ceramics area; moulding and casting workshop; wood workshop; plastic fabrication lab; textiles lab, with facilities for sewing, digital embroidery, screen printing and vinyl cutting; metal workshop; digital fabrication lab, including laser cutting, 3D printing, scanning and CNC routing/ milling machinery.

Computing

- Specialist rooms and equipment enable students and academics to create work and collaborate.
- The digital fabrication and physical computing labs are housed in a converted 19th-century church.
- There are labs, workshops, and classrooms for computing. This includes our Hatch Labs, which are physical computing spaces that feature a variety of equipment and tools that students can experiment with, as well as an Immersive Lab with full surround sound and equipment for immersive five-screen video installations.
- Computer Labs are used for lectures, with access to a range of state-of-the-art software.
- Students also have access to the Caroline Graveson Building, which houses iMac labs, used for classes and individual work, student common areas, as well as a User Experience and Games Lab.

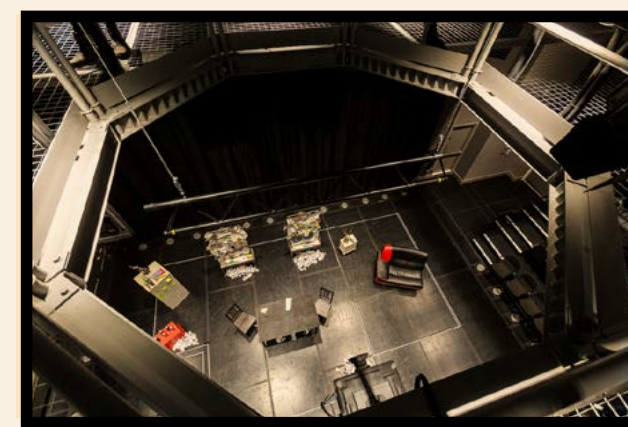

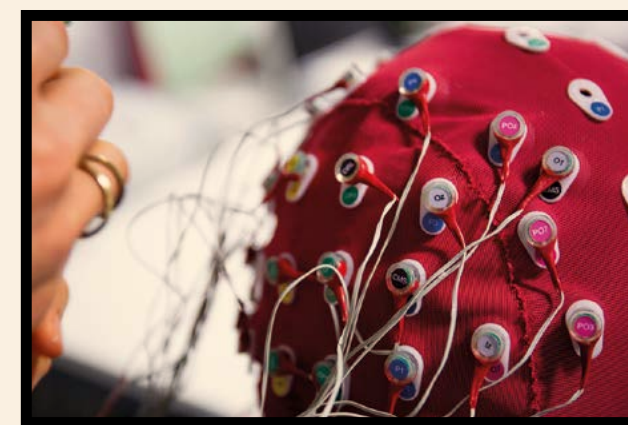

Psychology

- Psychology's fascinating research requires a lot of specialist equipment, such as EEGs, brain stimulation suites, mobile neuroimaging tools, and eye tracking technology.
- The Infant Lab, which studies the cognitive development of babies and children, uses infant EEG and 'tickling light' tactile sensors along with other equipment to help understand young childhood behaviour.
- Undergraduates often assist with research, and there are many opportunities to take part in studies and experiments.

Music

- Students benefit from a suite of practice rooms, fully equipped PA rehearsal rooms, and performance spaces with Steinway pianos, as well as access to other performance spaces internally and externally.
- The Music Technical Office is open six days per week, with an equipment store stocked with instruments, keyboards, frontline and backline gear. Technical staff are available to assist and support students with technical needs and projects.
- The Goldsmiths Music Studios was established by Grammy-nominated record producer, Mikko Gordon, and features three large recording spaces with natural light and variable acoustics, a main control room based around a 48-channel vintage Calrec console, and an MTA 980 Console that previously belonged to Radiohead.
- The Electronic Music Studio features a collection of vintage and historic instruments, amplifiers, tape machines, synthesisers and microphones in the setting of a state-of-the-art contemporary digital facility.

Media & Communications

- Teaching is primarily in the purpose-built Professor Stuart Hall Building, where you'll find industry-standard production facilities.
- Depending on your course, you'll have access to over 100 professional camera and audio kits.
- Film and television facilities include 20 edit suites, a TV studio, audio post-production suites, and a calibrated screening room.
- We also offer photography studios, darkrooms and a digital print lab, digital radio studios and edit rooms, animation rostrums, illustration studios, and nine digital media labs.

Theatre & Performance

- Dedicated facilities include six studios, and costume and scenography workshops.
- Our George Wood Theatre recently had a multi-million-pound refurbishment, and holds flexible seating for up to 140, plus industry-standard lighting and sound equipment.
- There is also a media lab with a bespoke recording booth and video and sound-editing facilities.

Accommodation

Make bold moves towards independent living while you're studying: whether you pick our halls of residence or elsewhere – we're here to support you.

Studying in an extraordinary city like London is an unbeatable experience. And it's even better when you know you're living somewhere convenient, safe and affordable.

Our accommodation options

We have a range of accommodation options – from halls of residence on or near campus, to more independent living that lets you mix with a wider London student population.

Our Campus Support Officers and Residence Life team help ensure that, whether you're living in halls or at home, everyone is supported and can get involved in our lively and friendly community.

Halls of residence

There are just under 1,300 rooms available in our halls of residence – either around New Cross, or a short bus or train ride away, enabling you to live in different areas of London.

Our accommodation is self-catered and usually made up of single en suite bedrooms within shared flats. Some studio flats and accommodation for couples (if both people are full-time students) are also available. Halls of residence are either managed by Goldsmiths or in partnership with a private provider.

10 Accommodation

Rent includes all electricity, water and heating bills, basic possessions insurance and internet access. For 2025-26, weekly rent ranged from £183 to £408.50

You can view the locations of our halls of residence at explore.gold/halls

Privately rented homes and private halls

Want to maintain your independence? Renting privately can be a good option because you can decide where to live and who you share with.

New Cross is a transport hub, so if you rent here you'll not only be close to campus but also well connected to other parts of the capital. The areas around Goldsmiths are on the more affordable scale of London housing, with many rental opportunities available.

Renting in Lewisham is also cheaper on average*, making student life at Goldsmiths more affordable than central London universities. Many Goldsmiths students rent together in areas nearby – with popular spots being Brockley, Deptford, Forest Hill, Peckham and Camberwell.

Supporting your independence

Your safety and wellbeing are very important to us, and we have a sector-leading team that offers pastoral support to students at Goldsmiths.

All students in our accommodation have access to out-of-hours support via our Campus Support Officers (CSOs), helping provide a friendly and welcoming living environment.

If you're stressing over an essay, concerned about a friend, or just having "one of those days", you're welcome to call the CSOs, request a call back, or drop by and see them. They are always up for a chat and a cuppa regardless. They also organise events and facilitate flat meetings.

Alongside our CSOs, we have student Resident Experience Coordinators (RECs) who are specific to halls of residence and run student-led social activities that help create a sense of community among residents.

Find out more at gold.ac.uk/accommodation

“It can be scary moving to a new city where you don't know many people. The REC events provide the perfect opportunity to make new friends, which in turn helps students to feel more comfortable and relaxed.

The RECs try to host a variety of events each month to offer something for everyone. These include film nights, craft events, trips to museums, nature walks, free breakfasts and so much more. The events are the perfect way to destress from the pressures of studying and are a great way to get to know the local area and see the different things London has to offer!”

Through our SYNAPSE programme, we offer workshops and business development support for students to explore entrepreneurial tools, think about their wider future and realise their potential.

Our workshops and mentoring programmes enable students to apply 'entrepreneurial thinking' to their degree courses and develop plans for their future careers.

Industry connections

Many Goldsmiths degrees contain industry placement options or work experience modules, giving you a taste of the careers you could go on to after Goldsmiths.

Through our Careers Service you can also access different internship opportunities. These are a fantastic way for you to develop skills, gain work experience, and build a network of professional contacts.

14 Getting ready for work

Throughout the year, we give you the opportunity to meet with potential employers via careers fairs, networking events and industry panels, where you can hear from professionals working in a variety of sectors.

Student Ambassador scheme

If you want to gain work experience that fits flexibly around your studies, becoming a Student Ambassador is a great option. You'll earn a competitive hourly rate, get to work across a variety of activities, develop your skills, and meet fellow students from different subject areas who could become lifelong friends.

“We have projects that are very creative and original... just learning from a book is not what I wanted. I wanted a university experience that was going to be applicable to my future and would give me transferable skills.”

Allison,

Sara

“Goldsmiths is the perfect place to go if you’re a creative person. I really loved it and couldn’t imagine going anywhere else.”

Sara wrote her first book at 15, but decided to study comparative literature at Goldsmiths. After graduating she worked at HarperCollins, then Penguin Random House children’s book department, which she describes as her dream job. She’s published two novels, and her debut YA romantasy, ‘Heavensent & Hellbent’, is due out in 2026. She also runs TOKEN magazine (tokenmagazine.co.uk), which features under-represented writers and artists.

Checan

“My BA has definitely made me a person who likes to challenge things, and try and spot opportunities...It’s given me a much more comprehensive set of tools through which to interrogate the world around me.”

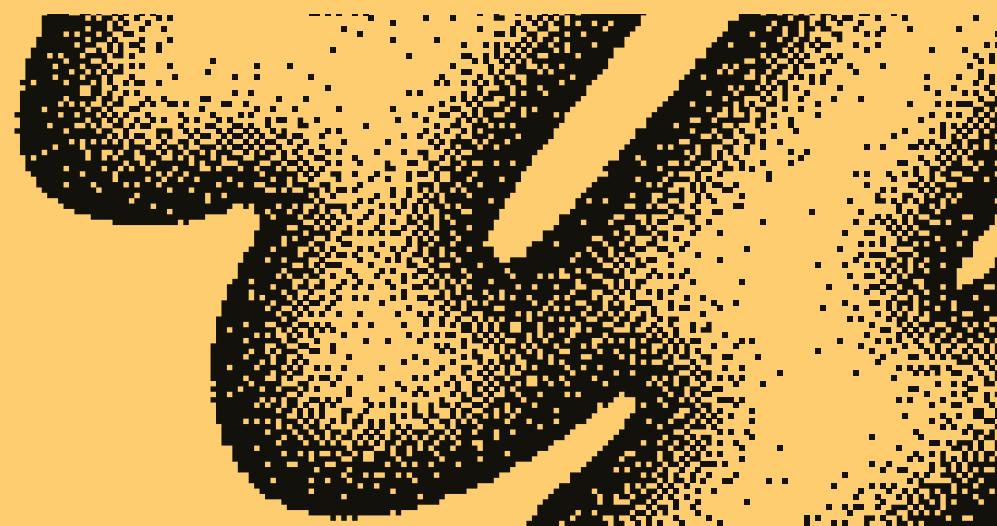

Since graduating with a politics degree 10 years ago, Checán has gone on to work for The Guardian and in the Prime Minister’s office. He is now a strategic communications manager at the Wellcome Trust, on its Discovery Research programme. Checán credits his time at Goldsmiths with giving him the “broader set of perspectives” he needs for this job.

Daryl

“The placements at community and youth work organisations were so varied, which helped me work out what I felt I was good at.”

Gaining valuable experience while studying at Goldsmiths set Daryl up for a successful and rewarding career. Since graduating in 2017, Daryl has worked across London and is now a senior youth worker in Tower Hamlets.

Supporting you along the way

We're here to give you the help and guidance you need – from the time you arrive until after graduation.

We've invested in support services so that you can access help if you need it while you are a student. As well as academic guidance from your faculty, there are these professional services available.

Student Support Services

Access help with all aspects of being a student at Goldsmiths – whether you want to know about money, housing, wellbeing or disability support, Student Support Services can guide you in the right direction.

Fund your studies

We offer a range of scholarships, bursaries and fee waivers for students. These provide additional financial support for your studies, and they don't have to be paid back.

Disabled Students Bursaries

A bursary for those with a recognised disability, awarded for each year of study on your undergraduate degree.

Goldsmiths Equity Awards

The Equity Awards provide a package of intentional support, designed to help to level the playing field for students of colour. Awarded for each year of your undergraduate degree, the award goes to students from a GME background, with a household income of under £40,000.

Mature Student Scholarship

If you are over the age of 25 on the first day of your undergraduate degree, you could receive a monetary bursary to support you through each year of your degree.

New Cross Fire Bursaries

Launched in 2006, The New Cross Fire Bursary recognises the New Cross Fire of 18 January 1981, a suspected racially motivated arson attack at a house party that led to the deaths of 14 young people.

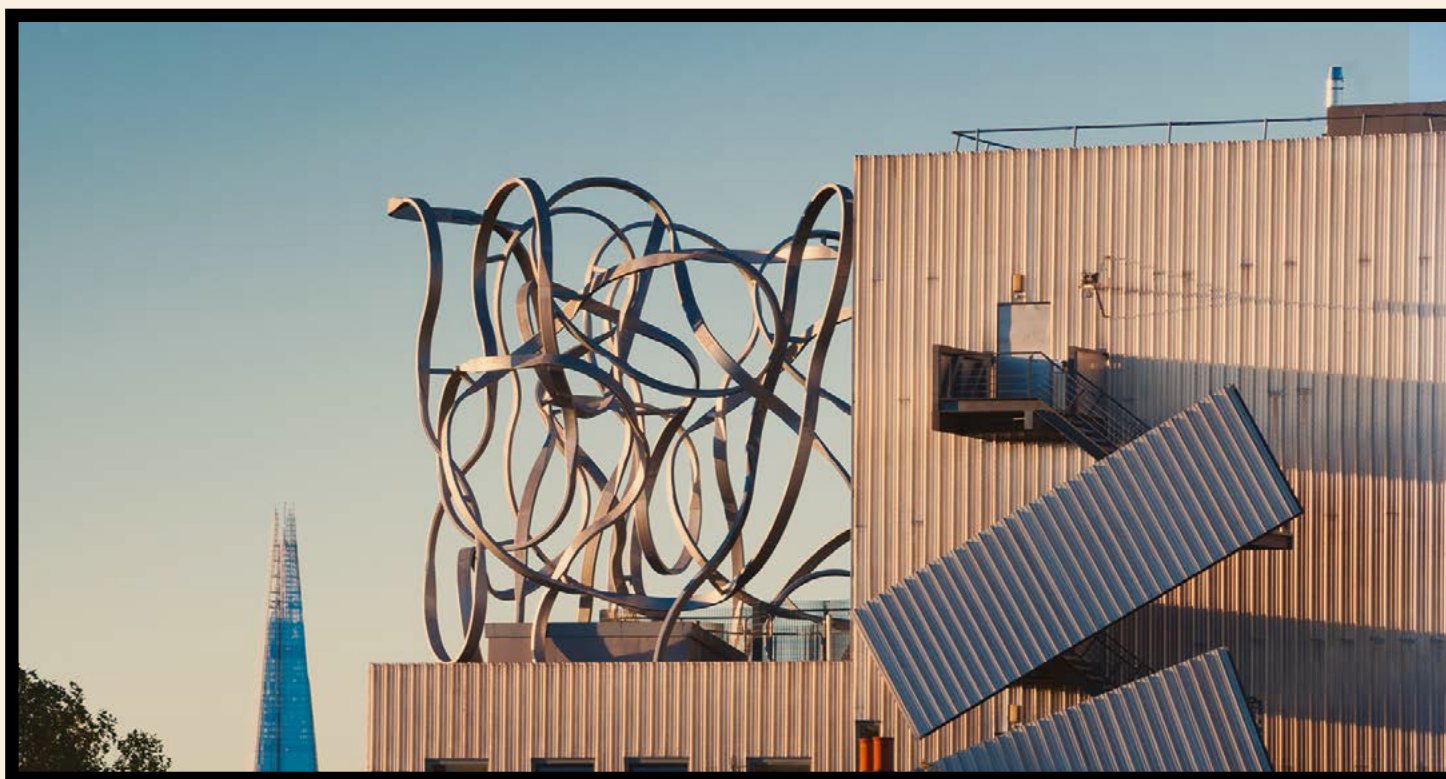

The bursary supports Lewisham residents who otherwise may not be able to attend university and provides students with funded support across three years of university.

Sanctuary Scholarship

This scholarship supports those with refugee status in the UK or have an active application for asylum in the UK. Successful applicants will receive a living allowance, a full tuition waiver for each year of study and an accommodation fee for a single study bedroom in Goldsmiths halls of residence.

Travel Bursaries

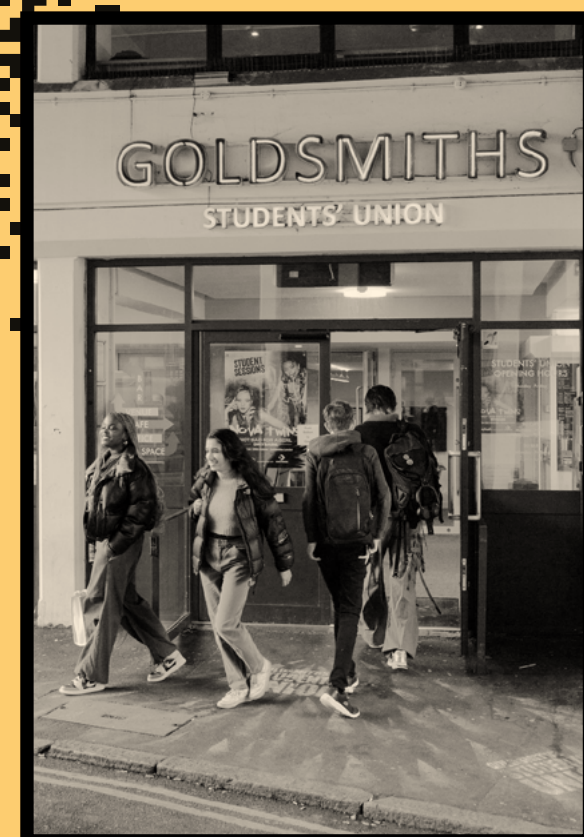

Students living in local London boroughs, with a household income of under £40,000 per year can receive a travel bursary for cost of an annual travelcard covering travel from your home to Goldsmiths.

The Students Union

The organisation is available to support and represent anyone who needs it while they're studying. Everyone who joins Goldsmiths automatically becomes a member of the Union and has access to its services. These include:

- Student-run societies, covering everything from film making to fashion, and politics to poetry
- A café, and a bar with pool tables and a balcony
- Social events held during the day and evenings, including club nights
- Student-run media: a magazine and radio station
- Sports clubs, including teams that compete locally and nationally, and those that meet for fun and fitness
- Campaigning on issues such as housing and anti-racism on campus
- A confidential, non-judgmental advice service
- Representation for students in dealing with the university

Follow the Goldsmiths Students' Union across all platforms at @GoldsmithsSU or visit their website at goldsmithssu.org
